

WHITE LABEL EXTRACTS

We at White Label Extracts take an incredible amount of pride in the quality of our cannabis extracts, and we are as concerned as you are about the recent news surrounding the safety of using vape products. We believe in operating transparently to assure our customers that we are providing the highest quality and safest products possible.

We do not include any additives or cutting agents in our cartridges – the ONLY substance in our cartridges is cannabis oil extracted from high quality flowers, sourced from Oregon farmers who hold the same high standard for quality products as we do. We source our high-quality distillate, like other reputable extract companies, from Sublime in Oregon. We source our cartridges from CCELL – they are glass with a ceramic coil and a ceramic tip (no plastic!).

We institute a rigorous gas distillation program to ensure we extract with a clean proprietary blend of butane and propane. All of our extraction equipment is cleaned with food-grade, 190-proof ethanol. All lab surfaces are meticulously cleaned with ethanol to ensure a sanitized workspace. The jars that contain the finished product are first washed in an ultrasonic cleaner with Alconox, a USDA & FDA approved cleaning detergent.

Please feel free to reach out to us with questions or concerns via the contact page on our website at whitelabelextracts.net. Thank you all for your continued business and support – we couldn't do what we love each day without this incredible community!

Sincerely,
The White Label Family
